T# Client Meeting - Nick Prouza

Part 1: Research

1. 15 Discovery Call Questions Every Website Designer Should Ask This article explains that a discovery call should help biht the client and the designer decide if the project is a good fit. Iy also shows that strong questions should focus on goals, audiance, budget, timeline, and what success looks like for the website.
2. How to Create Brand Guidelines Your Whole Team Can Follow This article explains why a client intake form is useful before a project starts because it collects the business background, goals, features, timeline, and pain points. It showed me that good intake questions help prevent misunderstandings and make the project easier to plan.
3. How to Create Brand Guidelines Your Whole Team Can Follow This page explains that brand guidelines are the "rulebook" for a business's logo, colors, fonts, and voice. It helped me see that a website should match the client's visual identity, or a brand guide should be created if the business is starting from scratch.
4. Web Development Client Intake Questionnaire Form This template shows the kinds of imformation a web developer should gather before starting to build, including goals, budget, timeline, website type, and inspiration examples. It reinforced that a good client intake form gets basic details early so the project can be scoped clearly.

Part 2: Client Questions

The Business

1. What does your business do, and what makes it different from other businesses in your area?
2. Who owns or manages the business, and what is their background or experience?
3. What are your short-term and long-term goals for the business over the next year?

The Audience

1. Who is your main target customer, and what are they like?
2. What should a visitor do first when they arrive on your website?
3. How do you want customers to contact you after they visit the site?

The Content

1. What pages or sections do you think your website needs?
2. Who will provide the text, photos, and other content for the site?
3. Are there any important facts, policies, or customer stories that must be included.

Branding

1. Do you already have a logo, business colors, or a style guide for your brand?
2. What three words would you want customers to use to describe your business?
3. Are there colors, logos, or brands you love or want to avoid for inspiration?

The Look

1. What style do you want your website to feel like: modern, friendly, luxury, playful, or something else?
2. Can you share ant websites you like or dislike. and what do you like or dislike about them?
3. Do you want the site to feel more personal, more professional, or more sales-focused?

The Project

1. WHat is your deadline fo launching the website?
2. Who will update the website after it is built, and how often will changes be needed?
3. Where will the websute be published, and who will be responsible for keeping it running?
4. Do you have a budget range for the project, and are there any must-have features?

part 3: Client Intake Form

The Business

1. What is the name of your business?

Answer:_____

2. In one or two sentances, what does your business do?

Answer:_____

3. WHo owns or manages the business?

Answer:_____

4. What are your main goals for the business in the next year?

Answer:_____

The Audience

1. Who is your main customer or client?

Answer:_____

2. What should a visitor do first on your website?

Answer:_____

3. How would you like people to contact you after visiting the site?

Answer:_____

The Content

1. WHat pages or sections do you want on the website?

Answer:_____

2. Who will provide the words, photos, and other materials for the site?

Answer:_____

3. Are there any important facts, customer stories, prices, or policies that must be included?

Answer:_____

Branding

1. Do you already have a logo, colors, and fonts for your business?

Answer:_____

2. What three words best describes how you want customers to feel about your business?

Answer:_____

3 Are three colors, brands, or logos you like or want to avoid?

Answer:_____

4. If you do not have branding yet, what kind of logo would you like: a business name, an image, or both?

Answer:_____

The Look

1. What style do you want your website to feel like?

Answer:_____

2. Can you share a few websites you like or dislike?

Answer:_____

3. What do you like or dislike about those websites?

Answer:_____

The Project

1. What is you target launch date for the website?

Answer:_____

2. Who will update the website after it is built?

Amswer:_____

3. Where will the websie be hosted, and who will manage it?

Answer:_____

4. Do yuo have a budget range or any must-have features for the project?

Answer:_____